

ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY STRUCTURAL RACISM PRESENT IN THE US FOOD SYSTEM – 4TH EDITION

February 17th webinar

Rich Pirog – Director, MSU Center for Regional Food Systems

Jane Henderson – MSU SROP Intern and student – University of San Diego

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Center for Regional Food Systems

MSU Center for Regional Food Systems (CRFS)

Mission: Develop regionally integrated, sustainable food systems

Work: Michigan Good Food Charter, food access and health, farm to institution and farm to school, healthy food financing, food hubs, food systems planning and food policy, beginning farmers, organic agriculture, and regional food systems in a global context

Good Food: Healthy, Affordable, Fair, Green
LENS: Equity - Sustainability

CONTEXT AND HISTORY - ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY STRUCTURAL RACISM PRESENT IN US FOOD SYSTEM

- Equity lens critical for MI Good Food Charter
- Center developed its racial equity plan in 2014
- All Center staff required to have a racial equity professional/programmatic in POW (starting 2015)
- WHY BIBLIOGRAPHY? Local food systems practitioners – (many white practitioners) little background - structural racism in food system
- Part of plan of work for 2015

ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY - CONTENT

- Criteria – focus on peer reviewed and other publications within past 10 years that examine structural racism issues within the US food system
- Does not include blogs and newspaper articles because of sheer volume
- First edition released in early 2015; lots of feedback on first two editions
- Started process for 4th edition with a national request for citations – fall 2016
- 4th edition has 55 new citations
- DOI number and/or links are included where possible
- Plan - keep going! # of publications rapidly increasing

VALUE OF ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY

- Easier to select reading for own self-study
- Useful for students and teachers – at multiple levels in higher ed
- Resource for food systems, ag, health organizations intentional about incorporating racial equity in food systems space
- Opens the door for civil discourse on racial equity and food systems

TO ACCESS BIBLIOGRAPHY GO TO:

HTTP://FOODSYSTEMS.MSU.EDU/RESOURCES/

Rich Pirog, MSU Center for Regional Food Systems

rspirog@msu.edu

Jane Henderson, University of San Diego

janehenderson@sandiego.edu