BREEDING CLASS RABBITS:

Must be one of the 52 recognized ARBA rabbit breeds and varieties to be shown. The Standard of Perfection is the resource to check your breed and color variety.

*Any animals disqualified during the show may not be sold at the auction.

Possession Check: Possession check via Google Forms this year. The link will be posted on the Small Animal Facebook Page and on the JCF Rabbits Band App page. Please contact the Superintendents if you have issues or questions. The deadline to submit is May 5th.

Fair Registration: Prior to the fair, we need to know which animal(s) you will be bringing to the fair, in the past a second Google Form was utilized. This year your registration will all be done through Fair Entry and changes cannot be made after you have submitted your Fair Entry.

Pre-fair Clean up: Wire cutters, power washers and hoses, are always needed. We will spend a couple of hours taking everything out of the barn, power washing it, and setting it up for the fair.

At Fair Check-In: Some paperwork will need to be completed at the fair (quality assurance, auction forms, by-laws, $5 per 4-H member, Informational Paragraph and picture, showmanship, costume class). All animals will receive a health check, market animals will be weighed, and all dishes will need to be disinfected. Your animals must have tattoos before check-in! Unrecognized breeds/varieties or mixed-breed animals will not be accepted. Disqualified animals will not be permitted to sell in the auction.

Barn duty sign-up will be part of the fair check-in. Each member must sign up for 1 hour for each pen registered at the fair. If there are gaps in sign-up times, these will be filled using a lottery list of all registered rabbit project members. (This means, you may be assigned more than a total of 2 hours of barn duty time during the week.) During Barn Duty: sweep the center and outer aisles, check the water and welfare of rabbits, and answer the public. NEVER feed someone else's rabbits and ALWAYS get a Superintendent if you think there is an issue/problems or questions/concerns. You MUST be in the barn for your entire barn duty! Make sure you are dressed appropriately while on barn duty. You are the face of 4-H to the public.

Show Day: Starts at 8:30 am with showmanship followed by the Meat and Breed classes. Order to be judged at each table will be posted by the table as well as on the Band App. A change from previous years is one person may follow a member to the judging table during market/breed only and listen to the judge's comments. Only 4-H members may put a rabbit on the table or take it off. If there is a conflict with another species being shown, please make arrangements with another 4-H member to get your rabbit on and off the table.

Showmanship-Black pants, closed-toe shoes (preferably black), and white shirt or lab coat.

Market and Breed Show- Club/Small animal t-shirt or appropriate (conservative) show clothes. No sweats or clothes with holes, no tank tops/midriff shirts or very short shorts, etc. Superintendents and judges could ask you to change if attire is deemed inappropriate by them. If you have any questions please contact Superintendents.

Check Out and Post Fair Clean Up: ALL Rabbit exhibitors are responsible for participating in the Sunday barn clean-up after the fair. Clean-up will begin at 9am and will run until complete. Barn clean-up date/time could change. All animals must be checked out by a superintendent, bring paperwork if you have purchased an animal.

Informational Paragraph: (To be turned in at check-in) One Paragraph (5-8 sentences) teaching people who come to the fair about one aspect of your rabbit project. On the same piece of paper include on picture of yourself and your rabbit(s). You might focus on a new breed you are raising. Breeding your own project for the first time. An issue you faced and had to learn about and overcome. A rabbit event/show you went to and what you learned or accomplished. Please make sure you have someone proofread your paragraph before printing. These will be displayed above and below rabbit cages at the fair.

New things and changes from previous years!

- There will not be a second Google Form to fill out for final possession. Your Fair Entry registration will be the final information collected and used for your rabbit entries.
- Four rabbit entries will be accepted for each 4-H member, only two can be market projects, and only one of the market projects may be a market pen project.
- One person may follow a member to the judging table during market/breed only and listen to the judge's comments (NOT showmanship). This will allow feedback to be heard by the 4-H member and an adult so that the comments can be used to help improve future projects. This will look similar to what the standard format at an open show looks like.
- No slideshow, this year will be an informational paragraph.
- Costume Contest!!! The most exciting thing in this whole packet! Creative costumes and themed human/rabbit costumes are encouraged. Stay tuned for time and more details. Registration will take place during the fair week at rabbit check-in.
